Mary Touchstone Quoted in Private Funds CFO on Corporate Lending During the Pandemic

06.26.20

Corporate Partner Mary Touchstone was quoted in an article series titled, “Subscription Credit: A Shifting Landscape.” This most recent installment, titled, “Part 2: Take it to the limit” focuses on how key lenders in subscription credit facilities have responded amidst the pandemic and the related economic volatility. The article notes that while major banks are focusing on existing clients, smaller banks have expanded their relationships to absorb new business that they might not have otherwise been in a position to capture. “Some banks are pulling back, but then there are other banks that are coming into that void,” Mary said about smaller players entering the corporate lending space.
