06.10.21

Partner Stephen Blake was profiled in Law360 as a “Rising Star” in Securities for 2021. He was recognized for advising Alibaba through a series of multibillion-dollar securities class actions as well as Velocity Financial on a first-of-its-kind dismissal for a COVID-19-related securities class action, among other matters. Stephen noted that he is motivated by helping his clients achieve their business objectives, whether it's successfully resolving a lawsuit or giving advice that helps to avoid a suit altogether. He further highlighted that working in the securities space allows him to match historic legal principles with fast-moving business developments. “The thing that has kept me working in this space is that I really like complex, multifaceted problems,” Stephen said.
