

David Azarkh and John O'Connell Co-Author Article for Lexis Practice Advisor on Trends in High Yield Debt Offerings

07.17.20

Corporate Partner David Azarkh and Associate John O'Connell co-authored an article published by Lexis Practice Advisor titled, "Market Trends 2019/20: High Yield Debt Offerings." The article discusses the market trends for high yield debt offerings in 2019 and early 2020, including industry insights, notable transactions, deal structure, process and terms, as well as disclosure trends. Further, the article analyzes the factors affecting the high yield market in 2020, including the pandemic and the Fed's response, among others. David and John note the high yield market has remained a robust source of capital for many issuers dealing with exceedingly challenging circumstances throughout the response to and recovery from COVID-19.
