10.01.21

Partner Stephen Blake authored an article titled, “SPAC Action Met With Litigation and Regulatory Reaction,” which was published by The Recorder. The article explores the recent boom in SPACs and resulting reactions from regulators, civil plaintiffs, academics and commentators. It further explains how the SEC and other regulators have been active in their oversight of SPACs throughout the year, how SPAC-related litigation has exploded in 2021 and how reactions to the SPAC boom are likely to continue to be a hot topic for the foreseeable future, as rulemaking, investigations and lawsuits work their way through agencies and the judicial system.
